Irish Proverb: We are all in the gutter, but some of us are looking at the stars

Please Pray

For the church we are planting to have a heart for One-on-one discipleship.

Chloe Leaving Cert

Here in The Republic of Ireland the final exam to finish Secondary School (Senior High) is called the Leaving Cert. There is a lot of pressure to do well on this exam to be able to get into the chosen course in the field you are pursuing in University. Chloe will be taking this exam June 9-22 so please pray for her.

Connor's engagement

Connor is our firstborn. Denise and I are asking you to remember him and his bride-to-be in your prayers. There is a lot to do between now and the 8th of October.

Romans 3:10

10 As it is written,
There is none
righteous, no, not one:

Reach, Teach, Send

So in our last newsletter, if I'm honest, I was writing from a broken heart. As you may remember, we had just started the new church on the 20th of December, and the following Sunday, the government shut down all religious services. We had decided to have church in the "catacombs", and we had four faithful people to come each Sunday. Finally, on the 16th of May, Ireland permitted religious services to begin again with a limit of 50 to attend. Each Sunday we have been open, there has been someone new visiting the church. It has been soooooo nice to be open again.

If you know me even a little bit, then you're aware that "I know no stranger", and for the most part, I have always been like that. Part of my morning routine is to take the kids to school and then go to the park across from the church to walk our dog. During this time, I try to get to know every single person who walks

Family photo

This is our most recent Photo of the family minus one Connor 21. Connor has been back in the U.S for two years now which is hard to believe. From left to right Chloe 18 Catherine 13 and Clark 14. We always want to take the time to thank you for your prayers for us and the ministry here in the Republic of Ireland. From the bottom of our heart thank you!

We are always looking for people to join our team "Team Ireland. If God is calling you to serve Him abroad please feel free to contact us:

there regularly. It's remarkable to me that showing a bit of kindness to people reciprocates back to you. Time after time, I have been able to share the Gospel and invite them to church. We are just starting to see the fruit of the seeds planted. Some have said they would come and others have actually come to enjoy the service. I love to chat with people and share my faith at the park or anywhere for that matter. But I especially love sitting down, having a cuppa, opening God's Word, and allowing His Word to do its perfect work. That has been the case recently, as I had the privilege to lead two ladies to Christ just the other day. We will soon have our first baptism service in the ocean as well. One of the young ladies will start One-on-one discipleship with Denise this week, and we are praying that the other will choose to begin soon. Seeing people surrender their lives to the Lord never grows old and is never mundane. It truly is a privilege to serve the Lord in such a way, and Denise and I pray that we can reach, teach and send till we see our Lord face to face. Thank you to all those who have been praying for us and the work here in Tralee.

On a different note, Denise and I are thrilled to announce that our son Connor (stateside) has recently become engaged to be married. He and his fiancé Holly have set a date for the 8th of October 2021. We are over the moon for both of them and wish the very best for them.
